

Get to Gas

Get to Gas

As the UK's leading training provider for new entrants into the gas industry, we have delivered our Get to Gas course to hundreds of individuals, providing them with the knowledge and skills required to successfully achieve employment in this highly demanded, fast growing industry.

Our fast-track Get to Gas course consists of up to 6 weeks full-time or flexible part-time evening training. It covers all aspects of gas safety legislation, with a particular focus on practical training, where candidates are provided with quality tools, equipment and training materials to support their learning.

Where better to practise your new skills than in our unique practical training workshop which is equipped with a full range of gas appliances along with our extraordinary purpose built house where candidates are given the opportunity to install a full central heating system, and are assessed on their practical ability in preparation for work placement. Not only does our house give candidates a real life working scenario, it also develops their confidence, speed and ability to install and service appliances, whilst receiving support, encouragement and advice from our experienced trainers.

At Get Training we structure our lessons to cover both theory and practical exercises, giving candidates the knowledge and skills required in preparation for work placements and ACS Core Domestic Gas Safety.

Examples of theory and practical training elements include: -

- Pipework exercises
- Combustion
- Heating plan designs
- Meters, cookers, fires, water heaters and warm air units
- Boilers and heating systems
- Installing and servicing appliances
- Control systems
- Y Plan and S Plan designs and installations
- Flushing systems
- Flueing and ventilation
- Unsafe situations
- Practical full central heating system installation

Following completion of the in-house training candidates gain practical 'on the job' experience with a work placement, lasting up to 8 weeks. This will allow candidates to develop a portfolio of experience, during which time they will receive constant support from their trainer. Get Training is one of the only training providers in the country who assist candidates to source placements with Corgi registered companies.

Benefits

There is currently a huge demand for central heating engineers in the UK. To change career to a heating engineer with our specially developed Get to Gas course is quick and leaves candidates equipped with the skills they require to pursue a rewarding career both in terms of income and satisfaction. College courses are often oversubscribed or unsuited, but we have the experience and facilities to make learning an enjoyable process, with all the resources and advice you need in one place. 'Get to Gas' is unique to Get Training; no other training provider in the country offers the same course. Our qualification is fully accredited and CORGI approved leading directly to ACS Core Domestic Gas Safety (CCN1), which covers all aspects of gas safety legislation and makes further study in specific appliances available.

Does It Apply to Me?

Our fast-track Get to Gas course is suitable for anyone wishing to embark on a financially rewarding career as a qualified heating engineer. Whether you have no experience at all and want to start from scratch, or have basic plumbing ability you want to develop, our training will equip you with the necessary skills required to undertake gas work on-site. Successful candidates can register with CORGI, regardless of whether they go on to full-time employment or work self-employed after the course. This is a fantastic option for those looking to change career as the training is completed in a relatively short space of time, and demand for gas operatives is always high.

What Now?

Our flexible approach to innovative training solutions can be tailored to suit you, whether you require a one-off refresher or a long-term, structured programme. So what are you waiting for? Call today to book your place and make a positive difference to your career and lifestyle.
